Doherty Jr. High Dedication Sunday

Doherty Junior High will celebrate its official grand opening from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday with an open house and dedication ceremonies at the junior high school.

Doherty Principal Richard McGrail says the entire community is invited to attend the ceremonies and tour the school, where additions and renovations have transformed the former East Junior High and Doherty elementary school into a new junior high as part of the school building program.

The ceremonies will begin in the renovated Memorial Auditorium (of which townspeople got a sneak preview last month during town meeting) with remarks from School Committee Chairman Richard Neal, School Building Committee Chairman Kenneth Gropper, Selectmen Chairman Gerald Silverman, and Town Manager Kenneth Mahony.

The junior high school will then be dedicated to William Doherty, the distinguished former school committeeman for whom the elementary school was named: "We're promoting him," McGrail notes.

Following musical selections by the school band and choral groups, Student Council members will offer guided tours through the school. Wherever possible, students will be working in the academic areas to demonstrate how they are used — in science laboratories and industrial arts rooms, for example — "so visitors won't just see an empty room," the principal says. In other areas, students' work will be on exhibit.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria to top off the afternoon.

Parents, students, faculty members and all residents are invited to see what has been accomplished at the school, McGrail says.

Dr. Richard J. McGrail

"It's something we've been looking forward to for a long time," he points out. "The building program has been going on for six or seven years, and this is the culmination of a lot of time and a lot of effort on the part of a lot of people."

He adds that the occasion is also sigificant because it will probably be "a lot of years" before Andover sees another new school building project.

The J. Everett Collins Auditorium at Andover High School, the third part of the $13.72 million school building project, is scheduled for completion by next fall. The new media center at West Junior High, like much of the Doherty, has been in use this year.

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A fairly unusual cooperative effort is underway in Andover, and so far it appears to be working smoothly.

The town's new Municipal Maintenance department, approved and budgeted by annual town meeting, is taking shape in preparation for the new fiscal year beginning July 1.

And Town Manager Kenneth Mahony calls it "probably the largest single item of school/town consolidation and cooperation that I've ever seen — and it's a tremendous responsibility in a sense, because now we've got to make it work."

The idea behind the new department: to give the responsibility for the maintenance of all town property — schools and town buildings, parks and playgrounds, Spring Grove cemetery and motor vehicles — to one department. The result town officials hope to see within five or six years: town property kept in better condition, at a smaller cost.

Under the new department, the responsibility for school building maintenance has been removed from the school department; and the Parks, Forestry, Spring Grove Cemetery and vehicle maintenance divisions of the Public Works department have been consolidated.

Joseph "Gerry" Dion has been hired as director of the department, and James Bamford, formerly the tree superintendent, has been made superintendent of parks and grounds (or, as Mahony calls it, the "green division").

The department will have a staff of 47 (plus seasonal help), with all but three new custodial positions taken from other departments. That staff includes 12 school maintenance workers.

Their duties will include caring for 29 buildings, including 10 school buildings and 14 major town buildings; and 104 vehicles, including 63 DPW, 18 police, 16 fire, and seven general government vehicles.

Total budget for the new department: $1,574,490.

In the past, school principals have been responsible for the maintenance of their buildings, supervising the maintenance staff, and that has led to problems, the manager says. "The division between maintenance and custodial work is a funny line," Mahony explains.

"The problem has been that not all schools define that line in the same place. Sweeping the floor is obviously custodial, and changing the lights on the high ceilings in the gymnasium is maintenance. But who changes the lights in the bathroom? Each school school principal has handled that differently."

The schools will, however maintain control of their custodial staffs indefinitely: The manager said he is unsure when school custodians might become part of the municipal maintenance department.

The green division has been at work since Jan. 1, Mahony says, because he wanted to take advantage of a full growing season.

Central Street Light Is A Delay

It may take drivers a while to get used to the new scheme of things in Elm Square, and one change many seem to be overlooking is a new delayed traffic light in the square.

Police Chief James Johnson points out that there is now a delayed red light on Main Street at Central Street, so drivers waiting to cross or turn left onto Main from Central (where right turns are now forbidden) must wait longer than drivers stopped at the light on Elm Street. According to the police chief, many drivers are still shooting across the square as soon as they see the cars on Elm Street start moving.

The chief added that the traffic lights in Elm Square will not be synchronized with lights at the intersection of Main and Chestnut streets until Main Street has been resurfaced.

Planners To Examine Subdivision

The Planning Board next week will take a second look at a subdivision it approved three years ago, at a public hearing scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at Memorial Hall Library.

The planners are holding the public hearing to consider modifying the terms of their December 1980 approval of Olympic Village, an 83-lot cluster development between Woburn and River streets, or rescinding that approval.

According to the Community Development and Planning director, the planners believe developer Arthur Kalogianis may have removed more earth material than necessary from one part of the site — and more than the planners' approval allowed.

A large number of neighbors and townspeople interested in earth removal problems in Andover are expected to attend the hearing. After hearing comments from the developer and the audience Tuesday night, the board will make their decision on the matter at a later meeting.

Rep. Tucker To Conduct Office Hours

Andover State Representative Sue Tucker will be available to meet with constituents from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday at Town Hall.

Tucker said she will discuss "any policies or problems" at the state level that townspeople may have on their minds.

No appointment is necessary. Townspeople wishing to meet with the representative Friday afternoon should inquire at the town manager's office on the second floor of Town Hall.

Sprinklers Must Be Inspected

Residents who have had underground lawn sprinklers installed within the past year must have them inspected. Improper installations are a health hazard.

Residents can arrange for inspections by contacting the plumbing inspector at the Department of Community Development and Planning between 8:30 and 10 a.m.

Elected Officers Of County GOP Group

Three Greater Lawrence residents were among the officers elected at the May 11 annual meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Essex County.

Re-elected as officers for the coming year at the luncheon held at the Corinthian Yacht Club in Marblehead were Andover residents: Louise Hart, 11 Heather Drive, first vice-president; and Gladys Sakowicz, Oriole Drive, treasurer Margaret Currier, Royal Crest Drive, North Andover, was re-elected corresponding secretary.

Membership in the Women's Republican Club of Essex County is open to all registered Republican women in Essex County.

On Honor Roll

Joseph A. Videler, a sophomore at Washington and Lee University, earned honor roll status for the recently ended winter term. Honor roll status represents a term grade-point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Videler.

Clown Town Saturday

Getting ready for the annual Andona Society Clown Town event on Saturday at West Elementary School are, from left, Alexa Kokinos, Sue Redgate and Nancy Kokinos, co-chairmen and Amy Redgate. The annual funraising effort will run from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., rain or shine and feature rides, games and a variety show under the big top at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. As an added attraction this year Salon-Salon will be featuring haircuts from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hiring Disadvantaged Teens

The U.S. Department of Labor is urging the private sector to get more involved in hiring disadvantaged teenagers during the summer months by taking advantage of tax credits under the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC) program.

Hired disadvantaged youth, who must be 16 or 17-years-old, will receive at least the federal minimum wage of $3.35 an hour, but the net cost to the employer can be as little as 50 cents an hour. For example, an employer can pay each youth hired under the program the minimum wage for up to 90 days and claim 85 percent of the amount as a credit deducted from the firm's tax return.

Eligibility rules are:

The youth must be 16 or 17 years old on the hiring date.

Must come from a family whose total income the previous 12 months did not exceed the poverty level established by the Labor Department.

A local office of the state employment service must establish that the youth is economically disadvantaged and certify this in writing before the youth goes to work.

The youth must not have worked for the same employer before, even in a summer job the previous year or part-time during school.

The tax credit applies only to the first $3,000 earned by each eligible young person during the 4½-month period.

The shortest lived U.S. coin was the twenty-cent piece, issued regularlyonly in 1875 and 1876. They were too easily confused with quarters.

Bazaar Plans Progressing

The Center Association's plans for the Annual Sidewalk Bazaar are progressing. All merchants will have a good selection of merchandise at action getting prices along Main Street.

The Andover Center has invited Andover's industry to participate with a display of their products offering them an opportunity to show the residents the products made in Andover.

Non-profit Andover groups have also been invited to participate to raise money to finance their community projects. To date ten organizations have registered for booth space: The Andona Society; the Andover Baptist Church; Beta Sigma Phi, Preceptor Zeta; South Church Women/Twigs; Academy Manor Nursing Home; B'nai B'rith Women; Council on Aging; Kiwanis Club and the Andover Police Dept. Drug Unit.

A Country Western Band with a 10-year-old boy as a specialty attraction will perform and they will also have a country western fashion show with dance-step routine. This is being sponsored by Andover's four banks; Andover Savings Bank; Pioneer Financial; Bank of New England Bay State, and Bay Bank Merrimack Valley.

Other entertainment highlights will be: A dancing monkey, sponsored by Macartney's and the Shriner's Clowns. For kiddie rides, there will be a slide, a whip; the Paratrooper, ferris wheel and the popular Moon walk. The Road Race is taking place on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. and there will also be a fun run with a 2.5 mile jaunt. The Chamber of Commerce is still looking for organizations to apply for booth space and industry to display their products. If interested register with the Chamber of Commerce office as soon as possible.

Even though we do not expect any dramatic increases in per gallon costs at this time, consumers would be wise to continue their conservation and weatherization efforts as a hedge against future price fluctuation."

Veterans Seek Members

Andover Post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars is cunducting its annual membership drive under the direction of Commander Patrick Flynn.

The Andover post was established in 1931 and has passed the 50 year mark as a local veterans organization.

All members of the post are assisting in this annual drive.

Andover Scout Program Largest In Council

Generations of American boys have learned about themselves and their responsibilities to others through the Boy Scouts of America. The North Essex Council, a Merrimack Valley United Fund member agency, had 1,227 Andover youths in active cub scouts, boy scouts and Explorer programs during 1982. Andover has the largest membership of any community in the North Essex Council.

The world of scouting reaches into the lives of young people and provides them with a chance to grow up as responsible individuals through funfilled educational and recreational activities. Scouting programs are open to boys aged 7-17 and young adults to college age. The North Essex Council Boy Scouts is a character building agency.

Local activities for Andover scouts include community services projects, camping, hiking and career exploration. Last fall, 35 scouts and adult volunteers from Troop 79 did carpentry work and ground work at the Lazarus House in Lawrence. Cub Pack 72 made a centerpiece for the tables of elderly residents who have Christmas dinner at the Andover Elks and assisted in the fall and spring cleanup projects at the Free Christian Church. Other Andover troop activities included exploring computers, white water rafting and backpacking in the White Mountains.

The North Essex Council serves Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen.

Volunteer leaders, under the direction and support of the council, make an investment in the future of their community and country by sharing their time and insight with local young persons.

Spring Concert Monday

Andover High School Choral Music Department, under the direction of Keith Gould, invites parents and students to its final spring concert of the season Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the West Elementary auditorium.

As a culmination of their studies, students will present solo and group musical selections, as well as research papers, artwork and piano and guitar pieces. The Madrigal group will sing traditional music while the combined Acapella Choir will offer a medley from "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Joshua."

Special honor and recognition will be given to the following graduating seniors: Dave Barron, Lisa Berube, Agusta Dadiego, John Driscoll, Juan Escofet, Mike Flieder, Pauline Georgoudis, Nancy Karp, Miyoung Kwak, Cheryl Lacy, Brian Lavante, March Morrison, Kathy Mathers, Paul Rollins, Wendy Spencer, Ellen Perry.

A reception and refreshments will follow the program.

Instrumental Concert Planned

The Andover music department will present "An Evening with Andover's Finest Young Instrumentalists" in the West Elementary School auditorium Tuesday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The concert will feature the Elementary All-School Band, under the direction of Christine Tatum, and the Junior High Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Jeffrey Leonard. Both groups are made up of students who are individually selected to be the finest on their instruments at their grade level that Andover has to offer. While both groups made an appearance at the Fine Arts Festival in March, this is their first and only formal concert of the year.

The Elementary All-School Band has been an institution in Andover for many years, but this is their year first under the direction of Mrs. Tatum who joined the music staff this year. The Wind Ensemble is in the first months of its existence and has already created much excitement among student and faculty alike.

There will be an admission charge.

Musical Pot Pourri At Academy

The Music Department of Phillips Academy will present a variety of musical programs this coming weekend. About Our People

MAY 19, 1983

Describing Poetically A Love Of Profession

By Sue Aucella Deacon

It is a part of teaching and being taught seldom expressed — a knowing, an understanding, a kind of love between teacher and student — and Nora Harrison wanted to capture it in words, to leave an emotional record of her teaching career.

For two years she "concentrated on being particularly observant of my emotions," Mrs. Harrison says, "and of the behavior and emotions I saw in the children" she teaches at West Junior High. Her feelings and observations about her young students became a collection of free verse illustrated by her son — who is also a teacher — called Teaching Is A Kind Of Poetry.

"The book is a love song," she explains, "and I think each teacher sings that song to some degree. And love songs," she points out, "aren't always happy."

Each brief poem describes a student — the athlete, the poet, the clown, the leader — and each ends with the refrain, "I knew you." The students in the poems are "universals," the teacher says, composites of many children she has known over the years. And in describing her students, "I became a universal," she explains. "I reflected what other teachers are saying."

Teachers cannot help loving their students, Mrs. Harrison believes. "It's part of the relationship. It's a family of a different type, a community about which you care very much. Teachers want to have someone say something about the range of the experience in the classroom. It's a little embarrassing to talk about."

A Lawrence native and Andover resident for 31 years, the soft-spoken Mrs. Harrison lives on Rutgers Road (after 28 years on Dufton Road) with her husband of 41 years, Franklin Harrison. She graduated from Lowell State in 1962, taught at the Pike School in Andover for three years, in Haverhill for one year, and in Japan for one year before coming to West Junior High, where she has taught English for the past 17 years.

Almost six years ago, the teacher realized no one had ever written about the experience of teaching, no one had ever published "a serious reflection on the profession. That's what I wanted to capture. I wanted to leave something of my career."

She worked on her poems for two years ("while I was driving, waking up at night"), then mailed them to her son Barry, a high school art teacher in Indiana, who had volunteered to illustrate the book.

Barry Harrison and his wife, Connie, who teaches elementary school, were both stunned by the poems because they saw their own students in Mrs. Harrison's writing. Teaching different subjects to students of different ages in different states, they wondered, "How can she have seen what we have seen?"

Barry spent two years creating a full-page drawing to illustrate each poem, with results his mother calls "dazzling" and "overwhelming."

The Harrisons have formed their own corporation to publish the 112-page softcover book (Aquaviva Publishers, Box 37 Ballardvale Station, Andover), which was printed last month.

Mrs. Harrison says she set out to illustrate the "great range of personalities" that walk through every teacher's classroom door, and to show the intense emotions that children feel as they pass through the school system.

A Sampling

A sampling from Teaching Is A Kind Of Poetry by West Junior High School English teacher and Andover resident Nora Harrison:

You were at the height
Of your innocence.
You would never be
Quite that serene
Again.
Your unseen angel wings
Made you restless
In your seats.
I knew you.

You still send me a Christmas card.
No return address
Keeps me
At a safe distance.
You needed me then.
I knew you.

Your mind moved
In metaphorical flight.
You enriched my life.
Splendor was your aegis.
You wove enchantment —
And mischief.
I knew you.

You were raw,
Searing rage.
You tolerated me
With my talk
Of syntax.
We met at the board.
You clenched the chalk.
It broke and
Powdered the floor.
Did my heart
Lie there
In the powdered chalk?
I knew you.

You were as polite
In June
As you were in September.
Your nails were clean.
Your hair was shining.
Your teeth were braced.
I was a public servant.
I served yo[illegible]
I knew yo

Junior high students are at "a particularly innocent age," she says: "There's a poignancy about them — they're just beginning their lives, just beginning to shape into people."

They're taking shape physically as well as emotionally and intellectually, which can present problems to students who feel awkward in their changing bodies, she notes. "The enhancement of the child's self-image is very important at this age. The physical development we see is very distracting to the child. In the halls they're like bears — they cavort. It's one great game to them."

Over the years she has seen the classroom become "more student-oriented — it used to be teacher-oriented", as students take more responsibility for their own learning. And she has watched increasing "societal permissiveness" and the growing number of separations and divorces take an unhappy toll on children.

"We see their suffering," she says quietly. "You can't possibly be with children day in and day out and not be aware of the tensions they have, the terrible worries they have." She talks of one student who has to walk around the back of the room during her classes because "there is so much tension built into this child that he can't sit still. He can't concentrate, he can't enjoy the company of his fellow students."

Problems at home often become the teacher's problem, too. "If a child hears arguing through the night, what does he care about a verb?" Mrs. Harrison asks. "How can he think logically about a paragraph when he's so torn emotionally?"

Her favorite poem is one that begins, "You laughed/When I waltzed/To dactylic hexameter..." She laughs as she recalls her inspiration: Dactylic hexameter is similar to music's three-quarter time, so she

Poetic

waltzed around the classroom to show her students the beat. "They thought that was hilarious," she says. "They looked at each other as if to say, the old girl has flipped."

(She wrote her own poems in free verse, discarding rhyme and meter, to keep the emphasis on the students instead of the poetry, she adds.)

The most difficult poems were those about her two sons and their wives, Barry and Connie, Franklin ("Pepper") and Sally (who is also a teacher). "I hoped that the way I see them, and see them reflected in my students, would be compatible with the way they see themselves." All were pleased with her interpretations. ("In your gentle height and/Muse-inspired work,/I saw Barry ...")

Why does each poem end with the phrase "I knew you"? "Well, I did know them," Mrs. Harrison says. "I wanted them to know that in a special way, teachers know them. In a way that's more intimate sometimes than a parent. We don't have the responsibility for their whole future — we just have them for one year.

"In no other profession do you have the opportunity to be such an influence on young students. It's an enormous responsibility. In the classroom, it's just you and those students, just the two of you. That core of honesty and integrity is the music."

Poetry, the teacher says, is "mainly music, and the music is whatever is the theme of your life."

Teaching has been her music, and she dreads the thought of someday retiring. She is especially enthusiastic about her work with gifted and talented children in the ECHO program, which she began at WJH six years ago.

"We have such a bright group of parents who demand a strong creative education for their children. And the children demand it as well." Mrs. Harrison is working toward a doctoral degree in curriculum development for the gifted and talented at Boston University.

She plans to continue writing as well: Her next project is a children's book about "two kittens in space, Astra and Lola of the Laser Eyes," which will combine entertaining reading with "scientific facts" about the solar system.

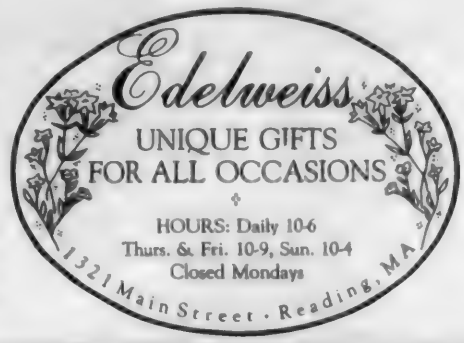

Her fellow teachers have been "giving me very generous compliments" on Teaching Is A Kind Of Poetry, the teacher says. But whether the volume becomes a successful seller or not, she feels her goal was accomplished when she saw the first copy roll off the presses.

"It was so very exciting to see that first copy that it really doesn't matter what other people think. It's enough for me to know that I've accomplished what I set out to do," Nora Harrison explains, "to record the experience. I have recorded what I wanted to say."

The word 'fiction' comes from the Latin fictio, which means something invented.

Bean Supper

A bean supper will be held at Grace Episcopal Church, 35 Jackson St., Lawrence on May 21 from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. to benefit Neighbors in Need, an ecumenical program which gives balanced meals to the hungry. Food is provided from the four basic groups.

The sixth graders at the Sanborn School applied their classroom knowlege along with a little imagination to present a Sixth Grade Science Fair last week. Science teachers that assisted were Gene Rapisardi, Mary Durant, and Maureen Mangiaglia. Doherty Junior High Happenings

By Nancy Lee

The Doherty Junior High Student Council has had a very active year. Officers are Cheryll Scarpa, president; Tim Higgins, vice president; Nancy Lee, secretary; and Amy Morton, treasurer.

Beginning in the fall we started it all with a canned food drive, collecting well over 3,000 cans. Throughout the year we have had many social events such as Halloween, Christmas and St. Patrick's Day dances and pizza parties. Special dress days such as hat day, shades day, T-shirt day and a blue and gold day were held which helped to build up school spirit.

Over the holidays each class had their own service project. The seventh grade had a free refreshment table at a local bank on Merchant's Night; eighth graders went to the Christ Church Nursery for the Handicapped for a special Christmas Party and were able to donate a generous gift by collecting money in homerooms; and ninth grade students ran a special party for the residents of the Academy Nursing Home.

Since we started in a new school, new traditions were begun such as the Powder Puff Football Game where the girls played football and the boys dressed as cheerleaders. The first annual Doherty Road Race was a big success with more than 75 students, family and faculty turning out for this successful event.

Many fund-raising events have been held such as the bake sales held during different sports competitions. Money was raised for a local family who were burned out of their home. One of the most successful endeavors was the sale of painters' hats. As there was no SAC this year, the student council ran an open cafeteria every Friday night where students could play ping-pong, cards or listen to music. Plants were supplied by the S.C.A. to make the cafe more spring-like.

Selected student council members have been chosen to act as ushers for the formal opening of Doherty Junior High.

A buffet will be held to honor the ninth graders. During the evening yearbooks will be signed, the class will and prophecy read and a dance will be held. The ninth graders will go to Salisbury Beach as their final trip from Doherty Junior High.

Doherty Junior High Student Council has indeed had a very busy and successful year. The advisor is Gary Hendrickson of the English department.

Grecian Festival

Grecian Festival '83 comes to Lowell the weekend of June 3rd, 4th, and 5th and the excitement is already building in anticipation of what is fast becoming one of the most popular ethnic events in the United States. Officials estimated the attendance for Grecian Festival '81 at 70,000 over the three day celebration, with revelers coming from as far away as Michigan, Florida, New York and the New England states to marvel at the 20-foot Trojan Horse, take up the challenge of the Minoan Labyrinth, stare at the gigantic Cyclops, and take part in the dancing and feasting from "the land of Myth and Magic."

Despite it's outside attraction, Grecian Festival '83 is still locally produced by the parishioners of the Transfiguration Greek Orthodox Church of Lowell. This resourceful flock, under the spiritual guidance of Reverend John P. Sarantos, has been well aware of the growing interest of more and more Americans in the Greek cuisine, crafts, arts, music, literature and culture of the country that gave birth to Western civilization, and so, in 1979, they rallied their ethnic pride and mustered their resources to present Grecian Festival '79, an immense undertaking - and a spectacular success. It takes two years to produce Grecian Festival with hundreds of volunteers contributing their time and materials to host the thousands who come. Some of the older members of the 48-year-old Transfiguration Church, who are descended from the early immigrants who came to work in the "Spindle City", consider Grecian Festival '83 a kind of joyful thanksgiving for the economic revival currently being enjoyed by the city of Lowell

To Examine National Security

The League of Women Voters of Andover National Security Study (part 1) will begin with a public information unit Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of South Church, Central Street. The meeting is open to the public and is being presented by the regional LWV study committee composed of members of the Andover, North Andover and Methuen leagues.

Material will focus on defense and strategy geared to address the questions at the consensus unit which follows on Thursday evening, May 26, in the Eagle Tribune building, North Andover. Consensus is reached by membership only.

Questions will address arms control objectives and criteria. Information distributed to league members by mail includes background questions, glossary of terms and listing of significant agreements. Members are asked to bring the national security packet with them.

This national study was adopted last June at National Convention. It's focus is "to evaluate U.S. national security policies and their impact on our domestic programs and our relationships with other countries." The two-part consensus process begins this spring. The second por;tion of the study will deal with military policy objectives, defense spending and the national security decision-making process. That portion of the study will reach consensus before February 1984.

Local study chair, Chris Holmes, urges members to attend both the Monday and Thursday sessions so their informed opinions can be registered.

Treble Chorus In Benefit Concert

The North Parrish Treble Chorus will present its annual benefit concert at Trinitarian Church, Elm Street, North Andover, Sunday, May 22, at 7:30 p.m. The church, off Route 133, is hosting the benefit for the first time. Proceeds will go to further support classical music with children.

The North Parrish Treble Chorus was founded eight years ago by its current music director, Marie Stultz.

The choir specializes in singing classical music of both sacred and secular origin in a wide range of choral and vocal repertoire. Not only have they performed or premiered compositions of their music director, but they also have works in their repertoire by Bach, Brahms, Britten, Morely, Purcell and others. A unique aspect of their concerts is the presentation of operetta or staged pieces. The chorus prepares music in five languages.

The benefit concert is open to the public. The evening's performance will contain music of many periods, in a light and serious vein, as well as some of the choir's public favorites.

In Recital In Methuen

Berj Zamkochian, internationall renowned organist, will give a recital at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall Sunday, May 22, at 3 p.m. to benefit the Gomidas Organ Fund. This recital marks the debut recital played at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall in 1953.

Since then Zamkochian has established an international reputation, playing concerts in all parts of the world. He recently returned from Japan where he played the Dedicatory Recital and Concert on the new organ, reputed to be one of the largest in the world, at the Shiga Temple and appeared as soloist with the Tokyo and Osaka Philharmonic Orchestras.

The Japan tour was filmed and recorded for television release by C.B.S.

Sunday's program will include works by Bach, Reubke, Messiaen and a new work for organ by Lexington composer Haig Boyadjian.

Sam, The Ram To Get Haircut

How does a 300-pound ram behave during his annual spring shearing?

Visitors can find out at the Merrmack Valley Textile Museum's annual Sheep Shearing Day on Sunday, May 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Old North Andover Common across the street from the museum. Now in its 11th year, Sheep Shearing Day has become a tradition in the Merrimack Valley, and each year new activities are added. This year one of the highlights of the festival will be the shearing of mighty Samson, a 300-pound Hampshire ram.

Sam, the ram, is usually pretty quiet and gentle, according to owners Marsh Morgan and Ron Johnson of the Gray and Cole Nursery in Haverhill. "Sam mostly hangs around and eats and sleeps," says Johnson, "and he's so big that right now we have him on a diet."

Sam and a dozen sheep will get their annual haircuts from shearers Chris Cerino of Ipswich and Kevin Ford of Newton. Cerino will use electric shears and Ford will use hand shears from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

After shearing, the next step in wool production is to turn the fleece into yarn. In an unusual and exciting competition, that will be demonstrated in the Sheep-to-Shawl contest. This spinning and weaving contest will feature teams transforming a whole fleece, fresh from this spring's shearing, into a handwoven shawl, in just three hours. At the sound of the bell at 10:30 a.m. each four-person team will unroll a fleece and quickly sort out the choicest parts. The fleece will be picked and carded, and soon the spinners (or spinsters as they were called in the 18th century) will be treadling their spinning wheels. As the handspun yarns fill the bobbins on the spinning wheels, the spinners will give the yarn to the weaver on the team. The weaver will then wind the yarn onto shuttles which will soon fly across looms as the weavers race to complete their work. When the shawl is finally cut from the loom, the whole team will knot the fringes to finish it off. The audience will have an opportunity to win, too, as all the shawls will be raffled off at 3 p.m.

Part of the common will be set aside for 35 craftspeople to sell their handmade goods to visitors. This year's craft fair is sponsored by the North Andover chapter of the American Field Service. Proceeds from the fair will be used to help send high school students abroad. The AFC Club will also share a food booth with the North Andover VFW Post.

6709902A sheepdog demonstration will be held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Border Collies, a type of small dog that has been used by shepherds for centuries, have been carefully bred and trained to sharpen their herding instincts. During a sheepdog trial, the dogs will follow their handler's verbal commands as they herd a flock of three sheep through gates and into a pen.

The Merrimack Valley Textile Museum will also be open for free tours.

Watermelons grown along the Tigris River in the Middle East have been known to weigh as much as 275 pounds.

The term "Hallmark" originated from the practice of jewelers in Goldsmith's Hall in London who put a seal on their gold and silver products to certify value.

Wins Creativity Award

Mrs. Emily G. Saliby, 19 Marion Avenue, Andover, was awarded the coveted creativity award in the Standard FLower Show, "Our Town," for her entry, "Picnic in the Park."

The creativity award may be given to a blue ribbon entry scoring 95 points or more and is awarded only if deemed merited in the opinion of the judges.

The flower show was presented by the Northeast and Northern Districts of the Garden Club Federation of Mass. Inc. in conjunction with the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute during Spring Open House at the school April 30 and May 1.

Mrs. Saliby's blue ribbon interpretation of an elegant victorian picnic conveyed a feeling of coolness and tranquility. The decorative unit of Leucothoe and Hosta contained in a moss-line basket was complimented by antique white and green china and antique green wine glasses.

Mrs. Saliby, past president of the Four Season Garden Club of Andover, last exhibited at the Topsfield Fair in 1982. Her entry, "Crack of Dawn," was awarded a blue ribbon for her distinctive approach to a country breakfast.

A man named Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit developed the temperature scale that bears his name. He was born in Germany in 1686.

Bon Secours' "Happy Birthday" To Five-Year-Olds

The 11th annual Birthday Party at the Bon Secours Hospital managed to squeak in some sunshine between a cloudy day. Children born at the hospital in 1978 were invited back with parents and siblings for a party filled with cake, ice cream, popcorn, and soda. There were plenty of rides to entertain youngsters along with some popular cartoon characters, clowns, and a magician. Photo at left: Licking up the last bit of ice cream and cake and washing them down with a drink is Lisa Wong, 126 Lacy St., North Andover. Photo at right: " The Force" seems to be with Christopher Marden, 10 Orchard St., as he is greeted by Darth Vader from Star Wars fame.

Curriculum Changes Prepare Students For The Real World

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover's school curriculum may be changing, perhaps placing greater emphasis on knowledge and skills to help prepare students for life in the "real world," the School Committee was told last week.

The school administration's nine program advisors presented their ideas on "future directions" to the committee last Tuesday night, in the third in a series of reports on what the future may hold for Andover schools.

The committee has heard from Superintendent Kenneth Seifert and the school principals, and next week, the superintendent will wrap up the discussions with a summary of what is needed in the schools, and which new ideas can be implemented.

Social studies advisor Daniel LeClerc described a two-year world geography program for grades six and seven, to help bridge elementary school and junior high as well as create an understanding of "the international community." New programs will be introduced in kindergarten through grade five and in the eighth grade as well. The new Odyssey program, offered as a senior elective, will also promote "cultural awareness."

LeClerc added that social studies courses will prepare students for "the real world" by teaching them about careers and community. Students will also use computers and television as learning tools, he said.

Language arts advisor Kathleen Scanlon said computers, in the form of word-processors, will also become part of language courses: Some students are already using their parents' word processors for writing school papers, she noted, and word processors could help teach students editing skills.

The schools will also spend more time teaching students public speaking skills, Scanlon said, with oratorical contests used as a tool. The first contest has already been held this spring at West Junior High, the advisor said.

Diana Kolben, fine arts advisor, said there has been "an explosion of interest" in drama, dance and music offerings at the schools — but the growth of such programs will be short-circuited unless staffing is increased. The new high school auditorium offers the potential for "wonderful" programs, Kolben said, telling the committee her goal for the future was "to fill and use that auditorium."

Math advisor James Murphy said the mathematics curriculum is already undergoing changes, with an emphasis on teaching and testing by objectives at both the elementary and secondary levels. Murphy said both remedial and enrichments aspects would be "built in" to new programs.

He also described the need for "computer literacy" for all students; and a plan for using a "continuum" approach to teaching subjects, moving students along through a series of mini-courses rather than teaching subjects one year at a time.

Kathleen Mohan, foreign languages advisor, said she would like to see higher standards and an emphasis on speaking skills to assure that students become fluent in foreign languages. Language skills should also include developing an awareness of cultural differences, she said, and of career opportunities in language-related fields.

Computers, travel exchange programs and "total immersion" — periods when students would hear and speak nothing but a foreign language — would all help students reach those goals, Mohan said. She added that interdisciplinary projects, combining more than one subject, would be helpful as well. And Mohan suggested adding new languages, including Asiatic and possibly Arabic languages, to Andover's curriculum.

Richard Swift, physical education advisor, recommended making phys. ed. a daily requirement for elementary students, including electives. At both the elementary and secondary levels, emphasis should be on developing an interest in lifelong activities (such as golf, tenais, racquetball), and cardiovascular fitness. He also suggested teaching outdoor activities such as rock climbing and fishing.

The advisor recommended that all high school students learn to determine their fitness level, and work on programs to

School Building Maintenance Headed For Improvements

By creating a new management position and revamping cleaning schedules and techniques, the school administration hopes to improve the maintenance of the town's school buildings, starting next fall.

The School Committee last week approved the administration's recommendation to hire a manager to supervise the existing staff of school custodians. Business Manager Francis Paul told the committee the new supervisor would report to him.

Total cost of the school maintenance program, according to Paul: $525,514 a year.

The committee voted three-two to try the new maintenance effort for two years. If the schools don't appear cleaner and better-maintained two years from now, the committee indicated they will reconsider their other alternative: contracting with a professional custodial management service to oversee maintenance of the schools.

Michael Giammusso said he believed hiring a supervisor was the "proper way to go." And Donald Robb said it would free school principals from their current responsibility of overseeing the maintenance of their schools, as well as give the town "better service."

He added that if the new plan "doesn't accomplish what we want," the committee will consider contracting with an outside agency. Chairman Richard Neal agreed that that would be "a distinct possibility if it cannot be done in-house."

Susan Poore and Robert Smith voted against the proposal. Poore said she was not sure that "adding another middle-management position" was the solution to maintenance problems at the schools: "I do not think we have to add another salaried position as part of the solution to this."

Smith said he would prefer to contract with a professional agency, Servicemaster of Norwell, which the administration had recommended as an alternative. That company had proposed managing the schools' custodial staff under a three-year contract at $526,900 a year, providing cleaning products and equipment as well as supervision.

The committeeman said he would prefer to "bring in the professionals" to manage school maintenance because Servicemaster offered "the expertise, equipment and products, and they know how to do it."

Cable TV Turn On Due

Cable television service, eagerly awaited by many townspeople, will be turned on in Andover by the end of May and probably by the end of next week, a Rollins Cablevision official said this week.

Larry Fitzsimmons, general manager for Rollins in Andover, reported that rainy weather has delayed work at the cable tower site in North Andover, but crews are now "pushing" to complete work by the end of the month.

About 95 percent of the construction has been complete since Jan. 1, Fitzsimmons said, and all that remains now — besides work on the tower — is some underground cable installation around Shawsheen Square.

Rollins has recently increased its sales staff, he noted, and sales representatives have been knocking on doors around town offering cable service. About 2,500 residents have signed up for cablevision, with about 75 new customers added every day, Fitzsimmons said.

He estimated that Rollins' major sales effort will probably be complete, and service hooked up throughout town, by July 1.

Adopting A Calendar

The school committee annually spends an inordinate amount of time adopting a calendar for the year.

In recent years this annual exercise has invariably produced more concerns or controversy than it deserves.

In one recent year the committee examined three separate calendar proposals before ultimately settling on one which, as in most all cases, generally followed the traditional schedule which has been followed for years.

Adoption of this year's calendar followed the same routine, with a majority vote ultimately approving a later opening and closing date.

The calendar discussion this year was prompted by the fact that Rosh Hashanah falls on Sept. 8 and 9. The administration rightly felt that the observance of this important Jewish holiday should be considered in the setting of the school schedule for next year. It would mean either opening the schools before Labor Day, beginning classes a week later, or cutting short the February vacation.

After discussion, it was voted to resume classes on Sept. 12.

Among the reasons, Teachers Association President Stephen Jankauskas indicated his group was opposed to commencing activities before Labor Day. It should be noted that in most instances parents and youngsters alike would be opposed and continue with their summer plans until after Labor Day anyway.

As for cutting short the February vacation, there was also consideration of some persons having made vacation plans for that period. The vacation dates were wisely left alone, since, again in many instances, parents would be taking their youngsters off to the slopes or sunny climes for a break during that period regardless of whether classes were in operation or not.

There was also some discussion about the closing of the schools in late June when the weather was hot and not conducive to a comfortable learning environment.

All of this makes a mountain out of a mole hill approach to a routine task.

What would seem more proper would be for the administration to present a proposed calendar, based on their best judgment, and have the committee adopt it.

Such action would allow the administration and committee to devote time to the more important functions such as providing a sound educational program.

It would eliminate the attempt to please all facets of the personal desires of the general public, since trying to accomplish this simply fosters a liberal attitude toward life's responsibilities.

Some day today's youngsters will have to accept the discipline of the daily work schedule. Where better to become accustomed to such routine than in the classroom.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1908

Considerable difficulty is being experienced in digging the trench for the sewer on Wolcott avenue. A heavy ledge of rock has been struck which has entailed much drilling and blasting and as a consequence the progress of construction has been much retarded.

Edward Brooks and family have returned to town after having spent several weeks in the Bahama islands.

With today's announcement we close the subscription for the Chelsea Relief. It will be noted that the total receipts have amounted to over $1,000, marking a generosity on the part of Andover citizens that is large and prompt in its manifestation.

Entertainments have been held lately on Saturday nights in Abbot Village, which do not stop at twelve o'clock, but continue into Sunday morning. Many complaints have been made and in the future the disturbers will be prosecuted.

50 Years Ago — May 1933

Andover should vote annually the salaries which are to be paid elective officers, according to Edward H. Fenton, acting director of accounts in the Department of Corporations and Taxations at the State House. The town has not done this for years, and even last March when the sentiment of the town seemed to be in favor of salary cuts, the salary scale for the elective officials was legally not affected.

The new principal of the John Dove school, Miss Catherine M. Barrett, entered upon her new duties at the opening of school for the final spring term last Monday morning. The previous principal, Mrs. Margaret Kimball, resigned last September, and since that time, the school has gone on without a principal.

The depression caused the omission of the May breakfast this year, but the depression is going to make up for it by introducing a Mad Breakfast to take place on May 26 in the town hall. In order to help out the children of the town by financing the playground this year the Lions club is sponsoring an evening of entertainment which has been appropriately named "Odds and Ends."

25 Years Ago — May 1958

Taxpayers grumbled and rumbled thoughout the town this week, echoing one general complaint: "My valuation is too high." And as the final batch of official notices went out Tuesday, the assessors office in town hall resembled Grand Central Station, with taxpayers swarming to ask questions, file required forms for personal interviews or just complain.

John Mason Kemper, headmaster of Phillips Academy, was awarded an honorary doctor of humane letters degree Wednesday morning at a Recognition Assembly of Colby College. President J. Seelye Bixler conferred the degree and made awards to 55 undergraduates in recognition of academic and campus achievement.

Mrs. Marjorie Sargent of Oriole drive has received a personal letter from Princess Lilian of Belgium. The friendly letter contained congratulations and words of thanks to the Andover blood donors who "adopted" the Belgian children in Boston for heart surgery. Many Andover donors gave blood which was needed before the delicate surgical procedures could begin.

10 Years Ago — May 1973

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin has received 95 applications for the post of assistant town manager. The new position was approved at town meeting last March. The manager reports that the applications were the result of an advertisement being placed in a newspaper and one in the professional journal of the International City Managers Association.

James Collyer Keck, 52 Harold Parker Road, Andover, Ford Professor of Mechanical Engineering at MIT, was honored Wednesday, May 9, with election into the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Urges Reversal Of Decision

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

What should be my surprise in reading your issue of May 12, 1983, concerning the meeting of the Board of Selectmen of May 9, 1983, to learn that the board, acting as sewer commissioners, had voted 3 to 2 to (1) change the Master Sewer Plan and (2) change the board's sewer policy reached in 1980 when I was a member of the board, which was reached after considerable study and effort.

As I understand it, the proposal put forth by R.J. Kelly requires an extension of the existing sewer from its southern extremity in the Lowell Junction industrial area requiring a change to the Master Sewer Plan. Furthermore, this extension is downhill requiring the installation of a lift station. The present Master Plan was approved by the Town Meeting in 1980 and the policy adopted at that time required that the sewer be a gravity flow sewer, thus eliminating the use of lift stations, a few of which do exist in the town, but no more were to be introduced.

The act of the Board of Sewer Commissioners on the ninth would apper to open up the entire town to the introduction of sewers, a very costly process, in the interests of gaining some additional tax money from R.J. Kelly & Co.

There are some other complications in this plan. For instance, Andover would be sewering buildings located on that part of the Kelly property located in Tewksbury and Wilmington, which may or may not be desireable. Lastly, the Kelly land appears to be the only land left for access to an interchange on Route 93. While it is said that the Dukakis administration no longer has this interchange on its priority list, I fail to see that its not of interest to Andover to get something done about it.

Lastly, I would strongly urge the Board of Selectmen to reverse their decision of the ninth and to continue the policy of gravity flow for the Andover sewer system.

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Andover Recycling, Inc. owes deepest thanks to many people for the great success of its Giant Recycling Sale-A-Bration May 14: Phillips Academy's George Neilson, who made Draper Hall available to us, with his fine crew of electricians, workers who brought in tables and security patrolmen; Atty. Domenic Terranova, who donated his services as bike auctioneer; Phil Nelson and members of the Andover High School Ecology Club, who helped pick up sale goods and also assisted with the sale and aluminum drive; all the helpful people at the TOWNSMAN who gave our event its far-reaching publicity; the generous donors of this year's wealth of sale items, especially the Pike School; the many townspeople who brought in aluminum; the garden clubs and environmental organizations that turned our sale into an event; our husbands, children and other relatives who drove, lifted, sorted and above all, smiled through the weeks of preparation; Rosalie Ruggiero of Citizen League for Adult Special Services (C.L.A.S.S.) and Mike and Mary, who are continuing the recycling where we left off; all our volunteer members for the cooperation and fun we all had in this project; but most of all, our loyal customers, who have supported our auctions and sales over the past ten years.

But, even if you can't contribute, you can come by and buy! Baked goods should be brought down the day of the ale. Proceeds will be used to help finance the senior center.

There are still a few seats left on the Strawberry Bank-Isle of Shoals trip May 31. Cost for the day is $27—all inclusive with lunch at the Warehouse Restaurant in Portsmouth.

The senior center has been able to get a limited number of tickets for the July 13 performance of "Sugar Baby," starring Mickey Rooney and Ann Miller. Orchestra seats and transportation to and from will cost only $23. Get down and sign up in a hurry. This is a very special opportunity.

Do give some thought to the all-day trip to Nantucket June 23. There will be a guided tour of historic Nantucket after a delicious luncheon at the Jared Coffin House. Cost for the day—deluxe coach, delightful boat, tour and luncheon—all for $50. That's Thursday, June 23. It is coming up soon, so get down to the center and sign up.

U.S. news agency barred from Senate while Kremlin propagandists have ringside seat

By Jack Anderson
and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rules Committee is looking into a strange situation: Should Soviet propaganda people be allowed to sit in the Senate press gallery while the U.S. government's official propaganda agency is not allowed to sit there?

The problem revolves around the Washington correspondent for Tass, the Kremlin's official news agency. He is allowed to sit in the press gallery along with correspondents of every other foreign news organization.

But according to Sen. John East, R-N.C., the Tass man in Washington isn't just a run-of-the-mill newspaper reporter. In a confidential letter last month to Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., the chairman of the Rules Committee, East said the Tass correspondent "is in fact an officer or agent of the Soviet intelligence service, the KGB."

East pointed out that the Voice of America is not permitted to send a representative to sit in the Senate press gallery. And East thinks that's silly:

"I do not believe that it is appropriate for a Soviet spy to enjoy the privileges of the Senate press gallery, which should be reserved for legitimate members of a free press.

"Nor do I believe that it is appropriate for an arm of the Soviet propaganda machine such as Tass to have representatives at all in the press gallery of the Senate, especially since the Voice of America itself has never been granted such privileges on the grounds that it is a government news agency. Tass is also a government news agency, yet it has full press credentials in the Senate, even though some of its employees have long been known to be intelligence officers under cover, or to have cooperated closely with Soviet intelligence."

East wants Mathias to revoke the press privileges for the Tass correspondent. Mathias has referred the matter to the FBI.

Meanwhile, 50 senators have signed a letter asking the Rules Committee to let the Voice of America send someone to sit in the Senate press gallery. The letter points out that the Voice of America is required by law to be an accurate and objective source of news. It also points out that Congress gives the Voice of America nearly $140 million a year to do its job.

In sum, the letter observes, the Voice of America should at least be granted the same privilege of listening to Senate debates as the Senate grants the Kremlin's propaganda organization.

UNGER'S DILEMMA: Another of President Reagan's appointments is in serious trouble. He is Sherman Unger, the president's first nominee to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals. Unger is currently general counsel at the Commerce Department.

The American Bar Association's committee on judicial appointments has turned thumbs down on Unger. The 15-member committee is asked to pass judgment on everyone nominated to be a federal judge.

The vote against Unger was unanimous. According to our source, he was rejected for "poor judicial temperament and lack of personal integrity." Unger has refused to comment on the ABA committee's vote. But he'll obviously have to answer questions about it at his confirmation hearing later this month.

We don't know what specific faults the committee found with Unger, but we do know he's been investigated several times for violation of travel regulations at the Commerce Department. He has also been accused of intimidating his staff in the general counsel's office.

We reported almost a year ago on Unger's high-flying travels at taxpayers' expense. He flew first-class when there were cheaper seats available, and he once stopped off for a three-day visit to a California fat farm while on an official trip.

We also reported that Unger had spent $1,442 of the public's money on a fancy stand-up desk after he broke his arm. He explained that he had to stand up to work while his arm healed.

The bar association committee has obviously come up with even more serious charges against Unger.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Classified intelligence reports warn of a Cuban buildup in Nicaragua. It's known that Cuban military cadres are advising the Sandinista regime, but now there are reports that Cuban troops have arrived to help the government put down the revolution. One classified report put the number of Cuban soldiers at more than 1,000. Another report put the figure at 2,000.

— The FBI's contract for janitorial services expired in early May, and the bureau's employees were forced to clean up after themselves. There was also a shortage of toilet paper and paper towels in the FBI's restrooms. Apparently, when the janitors walked off the premises, they took the supplies with them.

— A House Intelligence Committee report published last December cited evidence of Soviet influence in the nuclear freeze movement. But the report omitted the names of 13 House Democrats who were involved in conferences that the FBI believed to be Soviet sponsored.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

Not only are ceramic tiles beautiful, but they are also a very practical surface. They clean with a damp cloth and can be used almost anywhere in the kitchen — on walls, floors, shelves, countertops and even ceilings. They make a nice accent when carried along the splashboard behind a sink or counter. You may even want to use them to line the kickplate between the floor and cabinets. It also makes sense to tile the wall around cabinets. It also makes sense to tile the wall around the stove. Not only is tile non-flammable but it actually reflects the heat back into the room. As a result, this makes it also ideal for the area around a wood stove.

The variety of tiles designed to improve your kitchen or bath are indeed numerous. Before you decide on a specific style or color talk to us. WINDSOR KITCHENS first. We can make recommendations as to how practical and effective they will be in the area you wish to improve. We are located on Rte. 125 in Ward Hill, ½ mile north of Western Electric or call 372-3444 to arrange for a consultation. Our hours are Mon-Thurs 9-5:30, Fri 9-8, Sat 9-4, eves by appt. and our showroom is full of exciting ideas for your home.

Yankees 15 - Indians 4

The American League Yankees jumped to a 6-0 lead after two innings and went on to a 15-4 victory over the Indians. The Yankees combined seven hits along with 13 walks for their runs while the Indians collected four hits to go along with seven walks. Pat Breen led the Yankess with two hits, including a double, and there were doubles by David Jaye and Bob Lowry and singles by Josh Malitsky, Sean Bergan and John Davies. The Indians were led offensively by Matt Pothier with two hits and singles by Chris Pothier and James Spinelli.

David Jaye of the Yankees made the defensive play of the game when he grabbed a low-line drive at first base and turned it into an unassisted double play. Pothier played a strong game at shortstop. Preen and Pat Hayes handled pitching very effectively for the Yankees. Indian pitchers were John Glynn, Pothier and Stephan Spinelli.

Yankees 17 - Red Sox 4

The Yankees broke open a close game scoring seven runs in the third inning and posted a 17-4 win over the Red Sox. They combined seven hits, 10 walks and some good base running to score. Leading the Yankees offensively was Bob Lowry (two hits), Josh Malitsky (two hits), Pat Breen, Sean Bergan and Pat Hayes. The Red Sox had five hits and received four walks to score their four runs. Leading the team was Andrew Weiner with two singles, while Kevin Foley, Chris Landers, Tyler Vaderboncouer and Chris Pothier each collected a base hit.

Defensively Steve Liaw made an excellent play in right field when he made a perfect to the plate to nail a runner attempting to score. Jeff Foley played a strong game in left field for the Red Sox while Paul Lembo made a couple nice plays at third base. Breen and Malitsky handled pitching duties for the Yankees and David Milne and Jeremy Gibson pitched for the Red Sox.

Red Sox 5 - Twins 4

The Red Sox came up with three runs in their half of the fourth inning and held on for their third win of the season, a 5-4 squeaker over the hard-luck Twins.

The Sox jumped to an early 2-1 lead at the end of one inning, but two walks, an error and a clutch two-out, two-run single by Doug Bruk put the Twins on top 4-2 going into the pivotal fourth inning. Two Twins' errors, a base on balls, a hit batter and back-to-back singles by Jeremy Gibson and Kevin Foley gave the Sox the lead 5-4.

Foley was masterful on the mound, going the route to pick up the win. He allowed only one hit, Bruk's second inning single, struck out eight and walked three. After the Twins' second-inning uprising, he settled down to retire 12 batters in a row over the next four frames.

Chris Lane and Jerome Gerard shared pitching duties for the Twins, combining to strike out 2, walk 4 and allow only 6 hits.

Foley paced the Sox with two singles while Gibson, Dan Fay, Chris Landers and Jeff Foley each added a single of their own.

Defensively Sox shortstop Andy Weiner turned in a number of outstanding plays, three times taking sure singles away from the Twins' hurler Lane.

First baseman David Milne added a number of fine pickups as well as an unassisted double play.

Winning Softball Season At Doherty

This year's Doherty girls' softball team has lost to only one team so far and is one of the strongest softball squads to ever represent the school. Captained by two-year veterans Laura Scileppi, Rubina Carver and Katy Murphy, and coached by Gary Hendrickson, the team began the season with a decisive win over arch-rival West Junior High and continued with victories over Dracut, Tewksbury, Wilmington and Lawrence. Pitching duties are shared by Patty Heron, Melissa Hurley and Rubina Carver, who also shares duties behind the plate with Katy Walsh. Scilieppi is at first, Murphy and Amy Johnson at second, Jennifer Ippolito at third and Laura Hayes at shortstop.

Strong play has been shown by centerfielder Mary Ellen Lee, along with Lydia Wise, Kelly Murphy and Lisa Deeran. Solid play has also been done by Amy Ponti, Dona Leith and Christine Morey with Nancy Lee and Karen Mitchell working at both infield and outfield positions. While many of the girls have been hitting well, consistently strong offensive play has been turned in by Hayes, Carver, Scileppi, Katy Murphy, Walsh and Lee. The girls finish their season next week with a final game aganst West.

Netmen In League Wins

The Andover High boys tennis team met the strength of the Merrimack Valley Conference this past week.

They traveled to Wilmington without their top player, Jeff Chiang. The weight of playing the first singles match fell on freshman Whitney Bailey. He played returning conference all-star Bob Perry to a 6-6 draw in the first set to force a tiebreaker. Perry ran up a 6-3 lead, one point shy of winning the set, but Bailey stormed back, winning the next three points and eventually taking the tiebreaker 9-7. Whitney continued rolling in set two to down Perry 6-1.

Wilmington took the second singles match as Bob Curran defeated Gregg Eaton 6-4, 6-1, and the third singles match as Sean O'Bierne defeated Tom Kannam 4-1, retired. Andover swept both doubles matches to nail down the 3-2 victory. Dave Bates and Mark Perlowksi, playing together for the first time, defeated Rich Doucette and Dave Webster 6-2, 6-4. Steve Perlberg and Tod Deery defeated Jay McFadden and Mike Prato 7-5, 6-1.

Andover battled Chelmsford the next day in a make-up of a rained out match. Chelmsford came into the contest unbeaten at 9-0, but hadn't played Andover yet this season. The Golden Warriors handed Chelmsford their first loss of the season 4-1. Freshman Chiang was back in action at the top singles position and set the pace, handing John Hallal a 6-3, 6-2 defeat. Bailey also won in his second singles match, defeating Ted Hayes 6-4, 6-3. Chelmsford picked up their lone victory in the third singles match as Brian Douglas set down Deery 6-3, 6-1.

In doubles Chelmsford's Jim Brown and Paul Pisecco saw their own unbeaten record come to an end as Bates and Eaton outplayed them 6-4, 6-4. Kannam and Perlowski won over their second doubles team that was also unbeaten, 6-3, 6-3.

The Golden Warriors were rained out on Wednesday, but hosted Billerica on Thursday and revenged an earlier defeat by edging out the Indians 3-2. Chiang blanked Greg Loycano 6-0, 6-0. He has yet to lose a set this season. Bailey also remained unbeaten, downing Pat Walker 6-4, 6-4 in an exciting match. Billerica picked up the victory at third singles as Perlberg, playing in his first singles match this year, lost to Mike Boermeester 6-0, 6-2, despite playing very well.

The best match of the day was at the first doubles position as Billerica's Sean Hufnagle and Tim Murphy dropped the opening set 7-6 (7-5 tiebreak) but came back to win the next two sets 6-4, 6-4, setting down Eaton and Bates. The pivotal second doubles match was all Andover as Kannam and Deery were in control the entire way, turning back Mike Allgaier and Mike Talbot 6-1, 6-1.

The junior has yet to drop a match as Dyer downed Curtis Clark 6-4, 6-2 and Kennedy and Bruno defeated Bob Dankese and Steve Gee 6-4, 6-7 (9-7), 6-4.

Andover was rained out of Friday's match with Methuen. The Golden Warriors are 9-2 on the season, tied with Billerica for second place in the conference, one match behind Chelmsford who is 10-1.

This past weekend several players competed in the MIAA North Sectional Individual Tournament. In singles, played at Melrose High, Eaton defeated Scott Migdole of Hamilton-Wenham 6-2, 6-0, but bowed out in the second round, losing to Matt Rose of Burlington 6-0, 6-2. Kannam lost to Mark Nevilles of Lynnfield 6-0, 6-3.

In doubles action at Wakefield High, Bates and Bailey made it through the first two rounds before dropping a tough third round match. They defeated Paul Anzuoni and Dave Donaldson of Lynnfield 2-6, 6-0, 7-5 and J.R. Patten and Todd Taplin of Triton 6-3, 6-1. They ran into a strong St. John's Prep duo of Mike Middleton and Jim Smith and lost 6-3, 6-4.

Le Studio De Ballet

Want fun for all ages this summer? Try taking a class at Le Studio de Ballet, 4 Park St., Andover, for the summer. It's a fun way to lern about dance and get into shape at the same time.

Margaret Ann Earle, owner and instructor, offers morning and evening classes Tuesday through Friday for men and women ages 8 and up, including adults.

Opened just about a year ago, Le Studio de Ballet offers dance mainly for enjoyment's sake, but with correct technique. Margaret stresses how important technique is. She explains that for the one or two people in the community who will go on to New York, they will have had the correct training that is necessary to become a professional dancer.

And Margaret's experience has taught her the correct technique. Her earliest influence was the Royal Danish Ballet. She studied the bournonvill tradition under such great instructors as Margrethe Schanne, Fredbjorn Bjornsson and Vera Volkova.

A few of the teachers who greatly influenced Margaret were David Shields, Terry Sheilds, Aina Jansons, Christina Rubio, Nina Stroganova and Vladimir Dokoudovsky.

Margaret has spent the past twelve years teaching such subjects as music for dancers, ballet history and ballet technique mainly at the Boston Festival Ballet School. The Phillips Academy for Andover Adult Evening Study Program has also benefitted from Margaret's great talent and knowledge. When she was not teaching, Margaret could be found giving lectures and demonstrations.

Now Margaret has decided to settle down in Andover—at least for the moment. Le Studio de Ballet welcomes any dancer, from novice to advanced. Each term runs eight weeks for adults and sixteen weeks for children and teens. Call Margaret Ann Earle at 470-1381 to sign up for the summer classes.

J.B. Doherty, owned by brothers, Joe and Chris, may be Andover's newest realtor, but their ambitious, go-getting style is fast proving their success. Science advisor Rita Petrella described a plan for lifelong learning, with courses to be offered through Community Services. Key areas to be offered could include genetics and chemistry, she suggested: genetics, because genetic engineering is becoming more common in agriculture and farming; and chemistry, because preservatives, fuels and other chemicals have become a part of daily life.

Theresa Murphy, reading advisor, demonstrated new computer software tailored for Andover's AIRS program (dubbed "AIRSware") that instantly analyzes student tests and calculates statistics on their work. The program allows "immediate feedback," Murphy said, as well as saves time on teachers' record-keeping. Teaching both students and teachers to use that programming one of the advisor's main goals for the coming years, she said.

Annetta Freedman, media services advisor, also emphasized the importance of computers — and said that media librarians will "lead the way" in organizing increased use of microcomputers throughout the system.

Media services will also be "doing a lot" with the new cable television service coming to Andover, and will become involved in lifelong learning and research and development program, Freedman said. She told the committee more media center staffing is needed.

And finally, pupil personnel administrator Pamela Kvilekval said that among her recommendations for the future, she would encourage special education teachers to earn multiple certifications, qualifying them to teach in more than one area (early childhood/speech therapist, for example). And she suggested increasing parent education and training programs on such topics as child neglect, step parenting, single parenting, suicide and depression and homework management.

The advisor also urged the committee to maintain the peer counseling program, which has been used as a model by other school systems. The program provides a service by students to students, she said, at all levels.

CPR Class

A Basic Rescue CPR class will be held at Symmes Hospital in Arlington on June 7, 14 and 21 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) can be effective in saving a person's life when they are a victim of heart attack, drowning, electrocution, smoke inhalation, allergic reactions or other life threatening accidents. CPR enables the rescuer to maintain the victim's pulse and breathing until medical help is available and lowers the risk of brain damage and certain death.

Anyone over the age of 14 who can read and write is eligible to take the course.

The American Heart Association urges those who have received CPR training to refresh their skills annually. Symmes will offer three recertification classes on June 6, 22 and 28 rom 6:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Attendance at only one of these classes is necessary

Pre-registration is required. Further information may be obtained by calling Symmes Hospital Community relations office, Warren Avenue, Woburn.

Spring Safety Tips

The Insurance Information Institute notes that learning and observing safety tips can make the difference between a trouble-free spring and one filled with doctor and hospital visits.

What do you do when a lawn mower runs out of gas? The institute says to wait a few minutes until the mower engine cools before refueling. The hotter the engine, the greater the danger that adding gasoline could cause a fire or explosion. And don't smoke while refueling—that's like playing with dynamite!

Electric mowers can be especially dangerous, if misused. Of course, they shouldn't be used if it's raining or the grass is wet.

Clear away all sticks, rocks, toys and debris from the mower's path. They could become lethal weapons if the mower's blades hit them.

Keep children and pets a safe distance away and never allow children to operate a power mower.

Be sure to keep hands and feet away from moving blades at all times. Before cleaning underneath the mower, turn off the engine, be sure the blades are stopped and disconnect the spark plug wire.

Many falls can be prevented by making sure ladders are in good condition and that they're set up in the safest possible way. Loose rungs, broken spreaders and frayed ropes on extension ladders should be replaced.

Never attempt to climb a wobbly ladder. Even with a steady ladder, it's safer to have one or two persons hold the ladder in place.

Garden tools and hoses also can be hazardous if they're left lying on the ground and someone trips over them.

See that chemicals are kept out of the reach of children. Insecticides and fertilizers should be used with care. Follow the instructions and pay close attention to wind conditions when spraying.

Bus Trip

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is sponsoring a bus trip to the Manomet Bird Observatory Tuesday, May 24. Perched on a bluff overlooking Plymouth Bay, this research station and bird observatory is involved in gathering data and banding of migratory birds. This tour will give a first-hand look at the use of mist nets and other procedures used. There will be a chance to do some birding on Plymouth Beach. For registration information, call or write the Endicott Regional Center, 346 Grapevine Road, Wenham, MA 01984.

Tigers 18 - White Sox 6

The Tigers exploded with an offensive bombardment of the White Sox with 15 runs in the final two innings. Ian O'Neal went the distance in the mound, picking up his second victory and outpitching Andy Peck and Chris Eggert. The White Sox took the early lead 6-3 with Eggert hitting a long home run to centerfield. Pete Kannam and Eggert had a double and a single, producing the other White Sox runs.

Demolition experts were many for the Tigers: Ian O'Neal (double, single, one RBI) Doug Howes (single, two walks, one RBI), Steve Howes (two doubles, single, walk, four RBIs), Dave Sopp (two singles, two RBIs), Sean Ryan (single that was game-winning hit producing two RBIs), Paul Salafia (double, two RBIs) Steve Knight (single, one RBI) and Mike Hein (two walks and a stolen base).

The defensive play of the day went to centerfielder Hein who made a super running catch to end the game.

SECOND MORTGAGE AND SELLER

If your home is for sale and economic conditions are rough, it is conveivable that you may have to help the buyer finance the purchase. For example, you have a low interest assumable mortgage on your home. The buyer can purchase but only by taking over the mortgage and having you provide a second mortgage for the difference. It might be financially superior for you, the seller — if you structure your second mortgage as if you were going to sell it to an investor.

Most second mortgage investors want a pre-payment penalty. This is a bonus for the lender if the mortgage is paid off, as two-thirds are, before maturity. The shorter the term, the more marketable it is. Of course, your buyer will want as long a term as possible, so you may have to compromise. To keep the buyer's payments low, consider an "interest only" mortgage.

The higher the interest rate, the more marketable your mortgage will be. And, with a very low take-over mortgage interest, you should be able to get a much higher second mortgage interest.

The rest of the department will start working on July 1, except for the vehicle maintenance division, which has been having organizational problems. The manager is still searching for a supervisor to head that division. But overall, he says, the transition is "going fine."

With Dion available to evaluate the state of Andover's buildings, the manager expects "a better level of analysis of the situation. Building maintenance will cost somewhat more at first, but hopefully we'll be able to play catch-up and correct the deficiencies."

The ventilation system at the public safety center, for example, has "been a problem ever since that building was built, but nobody's ever done anything about it. That problem should be corrected."

Mahony believes that in five or six years, "we should see a very definite reduction" in building maintenance costs, "not only in dollars but in down time, the time that rooms are closed and can't be used."

He adds that Bamford has the training necessary to improve the maintenance of the town's green areas, and that the savings in vehicle maintenance should become obvious fairly soon.

"The only purpose of this department is maintenance," the manager says. "And if you solve a problem quickly, you save money.

"We're all pretty excited about it," Mahony notes. "Everybody's pulling together — it seems to be shaping up pretty well. The proof will be next fall, when we'll see how it works."
